If your pet is hospitalised with them when seen out of hours:

Your pet will need to be transported back to us when we are open. This means that if your pet has been admitted to the Vets Now hospital overnight, you will need to collect them to bring them to us in the morning. We can help with this, transporting them back to us using our practice vehicle if you wish. We know that if they are unwell, it can be a worrying time trying to transport them, especially if you are on your own and having to drive. Please let Vets Now know that you are going to require this, and they can contact our overnight nurse and make sure that this is arranged in time for the following morning.
